CASE OF SUPERSTITION.—In the tenement house 173 7th street, Jersey City, lives Mrs. Buck, a widow. She had two children, one a girl five years old, the other a boy eighteen months old. The latter died at nine o'clock at night on Thursday, 15th inst. Friday passed, and the neighbors wondered why the woman did not make her appearance. Captain Van Riper, of the second precinct, was called on, and when he learned the child was dead he notified County Physician Buck. The latter called at the house and gave a permit for burial. The mother would not listen to such an order. Dr. Buck told her it was imperative. The poor woman threw herself on her knees and implored him for God's sake not to take her dead child away from her. She was convinced that after eight days it would come to life again. Dr. Buck consented to leave the lifeless child with her on condition that she would place it on ice. The poor woman answered, "Oh, no; it is cold enough without placing it on ice." Day after day passed, and the neighbors again appealed to the police. The distracted mother took the dead child to her bosom every night in the hope that life would return. She heated the poker and placed it to the soles of the infant's feet and when the child did not respond, she groined and cried so piteously that the neighbors were attracted to the place. A second complaint was made to the police, and Captain Van Riper gave orders that the body be removed. In carrying out this order it was necessary to hold the frantic mother till the body was removed out of sight. After it was removed she cried and groined in the most piteous manner. Some kind hearted neighbors exerted themselves to console her, but in vain. She expects her brother, who is her sole support, to arrive to-day, and then she says everything will be right. Meantime the body lies at Brady's and there is no sign of decomposition. The unfortunate woman, it is feared, has lost her reason. She will not admit any of her neighbors to sympathize with her, as she says she has been robbed of her child. Her cries at night are heart-rending. To-day the body will be taken into the County Jail, and the unfortunate woman does not appear to be necessary to have her sent to the county lunatic asylum. Yesterday she acted in the most frantic manner and would not be comforted.—N. Y. Herald.

CASE OF GEN. PORTER.—Influential friends of General Porter, having been unable thus far to obtain the consent of the President to appoint a court of inquiry to review the facts as now presented, have decided to publish several important and interesting documents bearing on Gen. Porter's case, with a view to calling public attention anew to the alleged wrong done him. Among the documents are decisive expressions of opinion in favor of the general, from many distinguished federal army officers, that of Gen. George H. Thomas being unqualifiedly in Porter's behalf. Among the opinions of prominent civil officers and statesmen is a letter from Hon. Montgomery Blair, a member of Lincoln's cabinet at the time of Porter's condemnation. It says: "Undoubtedly you are entitled to a hearing by the President. The President may restore you with the consent of the Senate. Undoubtedly it is his duty if public justice requires it. It is not a mere matter of executive favor. I do not see how he can refuse to declare his judgment of your innocence if he will examine the new evidence. It is evidence from the side of the enemy which you could not procure during the war. It refutes utterly the conjectural findings of the court martial. You are as much entitled to this evidence as Bazine was to the testimony of the German princes and generals. I do not say that this new evidence is necessary to your vindication. I believe with Judge Curtis, Reverdy Johnson and Mr. Daniel Lord, that you were entitled to a full and honorable acquittal on the evidence at the trial; but the new evidence leaves no peg to hang a doubt upon. You will, when you get an honest hearing, have the trial set aside as null and void."

ROW IN A ONE HUNDRED FAMILY.—From a source which we deem perfectly reliable we learn that there is a bright prospect of a big bust up in the once happy Radical family of Lynchburg. This storm has been brewing for some time, but it is understood that the culmination of the row was brought about by the displacement of Mr. S. P. Holt, the competent and acceptable United States gauger in this city, and the substitution of one Jacob Wagner, a Pennsylvania carpet-bagger, late of Marion, where he was defeated for the Senate last fall. It is asserted that Wagner did Collector Rives some service in connection with his explanation of the Rives-Richardson affair in return for which a place was made for him by the displacement of Holt!

We learn that the indignation of the native-born loyalists took active form yesterday by a meeting held at the office of a Radical attorney in this city. There was a full attendance, and the proceedings were lively. It is understood that these truly loyal gentlemen resolved that the interests of the party should not be made subservient to those of the would-be autocrats, and with this view steps were taken looking to the removal of Collector Rives from his lucrative position, by which means alone Wagner's wings can be clipped.—Lynchburg Republican.

SAD SCENE IN A STREET CAR.—Shortly after seven o'clock last night a sad scene occurred in a south Baltimore street car, which, for the time being, excited considerable commotion in the immediate vicinity. Mrs. Mary Middlecamp and her husband left their home, No. 65 Clement street, during the afternoon for a visit to the central portion of the city, and on their return home entered a south Baltimore car. When at Pratt street, Mrs. Middlecamp complained of sudden illness, but she had been subject to asthma her husband supposed she was then suffering from the complaint. When the car reached Hanover market Mrs. Middlecamp suddenly fell forward, but was prevented from reaching the floor by her husband, who caught her in his arms. He immediately stopped the car, and with assistance carried his wife into the apothecary store of Ferdinand Hasencamp, No. 15 Hanover street. Upon placing her in a chair, her husband was horrified to find that his wife was dead, and had, no doubt, expired at the moment she fell into his arms while in the car. Dr. Donovan, coroner, was notified, but being satisfied that death had resulted from heart disease, declined holding an inquest. The deceased was fifty years of age, and leaves several children. After Dr. Donovan had declared holding an inquest a conveyance was procured and the body of Mrs. Middlecamp was removed to the home of her husband.—Baltimore Sun.
